Von Ingrid Stephanie Jordan 5 Stars Title: Alien Architects Bride Draconians Book #5 Author: Scarlett Grove and Juno Wells Reviewer: Stephanie Jordan #Aliens #Dragonshifter #Paranormal Oh No this is the last of the Draconian's Series I wish it would go further but alas everything has an end, I'm just sad*tears in eyes* it's ending. The ladies out did themselves this time. Octavia Reynolds is devastated when the Mulgor bombed New York City not only there wasn't anything left standing but her parents were killed also, and Octavia is living in a tent refugee camp in Central Park. It was very frustrating trying to get things together to rebuild NYC especially when there was no capital. Then Octavia was told that the Draconian's Grand Architect was coming to take care of the rebuilding. Showing her blue prints that were outrageous and impossible for the human race to live. Octavia went to the Draconian Consulate to talk well maybe scream at this Grand Architect but instead she got roped in the Mating Lottery. Joss Noro, is the Grand Architect, he was here to do a job the President of Draconia asked for. Not be put in the computers for the Mating Lottery, he didn't believe in the mating impulse or love for that matter. He was here to do a job not mate with this barbaric species. I was gifted this ARC for an honest and truthful review.

Kurzbeschreibung She survived the destruction of her world, but can she survive him? A determined woman Octavia Reynolds is living in a refugee camp in Central Park amidst the ruins of her beloved New York City. She's one of the only people left who understands what the city needs to rebuild, and feels the weight of that responsibility keenly. When she finds out that the Draconians--the dragon shifting aliens who came to Earth six years ago to mate with human women--plan to reconstruct her home in a totally unacceptable way, Octavia is furious. She'll do whatever she can to save what's left of the city--even mate with an alien. A man on a mission Grand Architect Joss Noro has come to Earth on appointment from the president himself. He expects to construct a typical Draconian colony, not have primitive [or uncultured, or unrefined, or ignorant] humans questioning his plans. Joss rejected love long ago when his first love fell into the mating thrall with another man. When his general tells him he'll be getting a mate, like it or not, it only makes the already-surly dragon even crankier. A change of plans Octavia joins the Draconian mating lottery as a last-chance gamble, hoping she can persuade the architect to listen to reason. She never expects her mate to be the very man she hates the most. Joss and Octavia butt heads with as much passion as they give each other in the bedroom. But can Joss listen to the words of a backward human female, or will Octavia have to watch her city be destroyed once more?
