Dead Bang on Target!Von Deborah MacgillivrayI read Nina Bangs books out of order of their release, but does not matter, she is one of the freshest voice with TT to come along in Romance in a Decade. I just finished her newest release devilishly wicked vampire romance "Master of Ecstasy", which shows her voice and style has developed more - to be expected - this her first book showed the diamond in the rough. In this book she had time-travelling lovers - but both from different times (a theme she echoed in the vampire book with many of the same characters like Ganymede and Sugar Sparkle at the core of them.). He is from the 1700's and she is from the year 2300. They come together in the year 2000, sort of neutral ground so to speak. Ganymede, is a mischief-maker, actually a misery maker. He loves to bring people together just to make them fall in love, then he sets about to destroy their lives. Sigh, such is the life of a mischief-maker! The two lovers come together under mistaken impressions: he thinks he's been sent to atone for his sins by teaching the ultimate virgin the joys of lovemaking, while she believes she has been sent to take him back as a love slave to save mankind in the future. Talk about culture clash! It's wickedly funny, bright and a breath of fresh air. So if you are snatching up "Master of Ecstasy" and have not read this, you might want to grab it as well, since it's in the same series. 3 von 3 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Unique time travel Romance Von Ein Kunde Clever, funny and imaginative time travel... Fortune MacDonald lives in a future bereft of men. In fact, her job is to manufacture man-models to meet her clients'...well, needs. You can imagine her surprise when she wakes up in the past (our present), in a bed that belongs to the genuine article! 2 von 2 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Good, but could be better Von Ein Kunde Although I had a bit of a hard time getting interested in this book, I did eventually come to enjoy it. I think that it was very well written and had some interesting characters and plot twists. However, a fairy tale type plot and a sexually charged romance just didn't seem to mix very well. I do think that Ms. Bangs is a very talented writer and I definitely will buy any future books that she writes.

Kurzbeschreibung Fortune MacDonald listened to women's fantasies on a daily basis as she took their orders for customized men. In a time when the male species was extinct, she was a valued man-maker. She had created some of the best prototypes around from Stud-Muffin-Stuart to the ever popular Hunka-Hunka-Burning-Love-Leroy model. So when she awoke to find herself sharing a bed with the most lifelike, virile man she had ever laid eyes or hands on, she let her gaze inventory his assets. From his long dark hair, to his knife-edged cheekbones, to his broad shoulders, to his jutting well, all in the name of research, right? It didn't take an expert any time at all to realize that he was the genuine article, a bona fide man. And when Leith Campbell took her in his arms, she knew real passion for the first time but had she found true love? Synopsis In a time when the male species is extinct, Fortune MacDonald's talents as a "man-maker" are extremely valuable, but when a seemingly perfect specimen turns up in her bed, she wonders if there is more to their love than physical pleasure. Original.
