Captivating!Von Ein KundeFaith, Espionage, and Love come together in this book to leave you spellbound. Linda Chaikin effortlessly wove Allison's faith and feelings and eluded to Bret's which left you craving for more of them.

The mystery was excellent and took twists you did not expect which was refreshing. I would recommend this book to anybody.0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. KurzbeschreibungFor lovely young Allison Wescott, life on the Nile offers both fulfillment as she works on a medical missions boat, nursing the Egyptian Fellahin, after having attended Oswald Chambers Bible College.Then the Great War (WW1) breaks out during Allison's holiday with members of a mysterious archaeological club. To her horror, after two bodies are found in the hot desert sands, Allison finds herself under the interrogation of Bret Holden a handsome British officer who stirs the fires of romance within her. Suddenly a future that once seems so clear becomes shadowed as she is torn between two loves, each as strong as the Arabian Winds.
