The reader can only guess what will happen to Michael, cause this story is not about him, but about a man who disappeared in 1968. Michael is told that he looks just like this man - a former famous actor. And now he investigates, cause really... can it be that they are family?

And was his lost grandfather gay? What happened to him and his boyfriend when homosexuality was not only unheard of but punished? Michael's research, the journals of his grandfather, the enlightening of the past and a family full of secrets and an adventurous past ... all that combined is a wonderful story about love, friendship and values.
